FOREWORD

The term dimension stone is generally used to refer to all naturally occurring rock material or other construction units of specialised shapes and sizes. Production of dimension stone in South Africa is dominated by granite with slate and sandstone making up the balance. South Africa is fortunate to possess vast deposits of different types of granites, which are found over large parts of the country. The Directorate Mineral Economics continually endeavours to ensure that information published is as current as possible. Published information includes contact details of the various mining companies and where available email and website addresses are included. Data contained in this edition were supplied by the various mining companies, to whom due acknowledgement is made.
